True Hope & Change

By: Doug Kashorek

For the morning and evening devotional thoughts during our singing services today, I'll speak of true hope & change:

Hope “And we desire each one of you to show the same earnestness to have the full assurance of hope until the end” Hebrews 6:11. Not reading the classified ad closely enough, a man was angry to find out that the “free life assurance” offered wasn’t for this life.

Christians know the hope that we offer a world that has none, but the world doesn’t plan for the future. We must hold up the gospel as the only hope that mankind has. This hope is certain and an anchor for the soul. To hold out this hope as a light in a dark world we must live it out ourselves by trusting in it fully, so the world can see that it is indeed will desire to have it. We are to be “imitators of those who through faith and patience inherit the promises.”

The hope of eternal life is assured. Are you living out the gospel to have hope?

Change “And calling to him a child he put him in the midst of them and said, ‘Truly, I say to you, unless you turn and become like children you will never enter the kingdom of heaven’” Matthew 18:2-3. Jesus, who Himself is the example for us, points to a child for us to know how to live our lives here as adults.

What treasures children are! Look at the value that Jesus gives them: they are to teach us how to live before God. As we mature into adulthood, do we dismiss the childlike qualities that God cherishes—in fact holds up as necessary to enter His kingdom—as, well, childish?

So, to walk as Jesus did, we must cherish the children He has placed within our lives and then become like them, imitating them in humility, trust, and unconditional love.
