Be a Barnabas in a Bully Club World!

by Doug Kashorek

This was the title of the lesson I did at Camp Barbe this past July for Ohio Valley Christian Youth Camp's Junior Week. But, while the need for an encourager as the 'bully club' bullies works for 9-11 year-olds, does it apply to adults who have long left their school days behind them?

Saul last left Jerusalem after ravaging the church. Not only had the cloaks of those stoning Stephan been laid at his feet, but in the great persecution that scattered the church, Saul had gone from house to house dragging off Christians for torture, imprisonment, and worse. So, it was no wonder that those left in the city were skeptical about his change of heart in Damascus when the chief bully returned. It took Barnabas, the 'son of encouragement,' to bring him to Jesus' disciples.

When Barnabas was sent to work in Antioch, it was once again Barnabas who brought Saul to them. And throughout Acts, it was the team of Barnabas and Saul who went ... on a missionary journey together and ... to consult with the apostles, elders, and leaders in Jerusalem when Judaizers caused trouble in Antioch. Even the parting of their ways over Barnabas' cousin going with them on a second missionary journey seemed mended as John Mark was with Saul (who became Paul) by Colossians 4:10.

What a difficult world we live in! Bullied for our faith by so many from so many directions, we all need a Barnabas in our lives, working and encouraging us elbow-to-elbow in our labor for the Lord. And the Lord's church needs an abundance of them—who will see through what man tends to see in people, sees the changed hearts in people, and, introducing them to the body, finds meaningful service for them to do.

Now, while Barnabas' personal ministry was never as flashy as Paul's or Peter's and we don't have any of his gospel sermons recorded, he nevertheless served by loving so many. He was a real peacemaker and calming presence in the assembly of the saints. Are you a Barnabas in the church?
